case study

As experts in all things furniture, Kimiko Designs was hired to direct a new office for a financial advisor who wanted a space that better represented his vision and business values. The result is a beautiful and functional workspace that reflects their experience, process and care in the way they value their clients.

The pieces that were selected were chosen with function, style and durability in mind; all while maintaining an extremely tight budget and EJ corporate standards. The resulting space is welcoming, functional, and timeless.

AFTER

- Large desk that provides privacy and functionality
- Comfortable beautiful and accessible healthcare seating options
- Relevant floor coverings and lighting for acoustics and aesthetics
- Tables with no sharp corners
- Multiple storage options

"My time is best spent focusing on my clients so I reached out the experts at Kimiko and I'm very glad I did."
